George Lamorro, 305 Broadway, Wellsville, who was charged in a second offense affidavit with possessing 165 gallon of wine and four gallons of liquor entered a plea of guilty when arraigned and was fined $1,200 and costs which he immediately paid.

Alex Fratilla of Salem, who was caught in the drag net thrown out by state prohibition inspectors a week ago, and who was to have gone to trial Friday went before the court Friday afternoon and withdrew his former plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. He was then fined $650 and costs, and he also paid. The defendant was represented by Attorney Walter W. Beck of Lisbon.

Appeals Dry Case.
Louie Julian, who was charged with selling liquor, went to trial before Judge Riddle Friday afternoon, and after the introduction of considerable evidence he was found guilty.

Immediately afterwards his counsel H. L. McCarthy of Metzgar, McCarthy & McCorkhill of Salem gave notice of filing a motion for a new trial. Pronouncement of sentence as a result was automatically suspended until after the court passes up on the motion.

C. G. BURTON TO RESIGN POST IN SALEM CONCERN

President and Manager Of National Sanitary Announces Move

Charles G. Burton, president and general manager of the National Sanitary company, announced today that he had resigned and will sever his connections with the company Nov. 1.

The resignation was presented to the board of directors April 1. It was not accepted until Oct. 1. Desire for an extended vacation prompted the resignation and Mr. Burton has nothing definite in view for the future. He will leave Salem about Nov. 1 to visit his daughter, Mrs. George C. Miller, at Peru, Ind., and his son, H. P. Burton, Oak Park, Ill.

Mr. Burton took charge of the Salem plant as secretary-treasurer and general manager in May, 1922, having come here from Trenton, N. J., where he was associated with a large manufacturing company. Fire in June of the same year destroyed the foundry, causing damage estimated at $70,000.

Built Modern Plant.
The foundry was rebuilt and after the plant resumed work in November, 1922, it operated continuously until January, 1928. Another fire that month destroyed the entire plant and immediately a movement was started by stockholders of Massillon, who owned controlling interest, to move the business to a Massillon plant.

This plan was frustrated through cooperation of Salem business interests and the board of directors decided to construct a new plant in Salem, with Mr. Burton as president and general manager.

The new plant was completed and operations started at full capacity in August, 1928. Its construction is of latest design and it is considered one of the finest and most economical sanitary ware plants in the United States. It has been working practically full capacity since being rebuilt, employing about 230 at present. It has an average yearly payroll of $530,000.

When Mr. Burton first assumed charge of the plant in 1922, he found the company in a critical financial condition, but gradually, through fine management, it has developed into one of the financially strong industries in the city.

United Organization.
Mr. Burton attributes its steady rise to the "excellence of the unified working organization," but this has been brought about largely through his own efforts and effective management. The plant produces some of the finest enameled ware to be found on the market and it is considered a model in the sanitary ware trade for its economical production.

Mr. Burton submitted his resignation two years ago, when he planned to leave for an extended trip, but he was persuaded to remain and take charge of the reconstruction following the fire. In addition to his duties at the plant, he has been active in outside affairs, having been president of the Manufacturers association and also of the Rotary club.

Last spring a controlling interest in the Salem plant was acquired by the Eljer company of Ford City, Pa., of which R. E. Crane is president. No announcement of the appointment of a successor to Mr. Burton has been made.

At one time he was on the agricultural faculty of the Pennsylvania State college. During that time he was also poultry editor of the National Stockman and Farmer.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen Carr Jackson. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis and Albert Carr, Damascus rd.

Funeral service will be held Monday afternoon at Cambridge.

Kidnaper Robs Rich Detroit Home

The police are working on the theory that kidnapers took the lad from in front of his home (shown above), and are holding him for ransom.

Communists Seemingly Enjoy Trial On Charge Of Murder

With Electric Chair Not Menace, Attitudes Show Change

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 5.—Secure in the knowledge that the electric chair no longer exists as a possible fate for them, Fred Swin Beal, communist organizer of the Gastonia strike, and six of his aides charged with the murder of Police Chief O. P. Aderholt, apparently are getting something of a "kick" out of their second trial.

A month ago when they were being tried for murder in the first degree, conviction of which automatically carries the death penalty, they were a silent, grim-visaged group, hanging upon every word that fell from the lips of the long parade of state witnesses. Rarely ever was there a flicker of expression upon their serious countenances.

Today, as they are on trial again after the state has reduced the charges against them to second degree murder, they present an altogether different picture. There is a noticeable levity in their every expression. Not infrequently they find enough naive humor in a witness' remark to break into wide grins. Once in a while a wise crack from the witness stand pitches all seven of them into hearty laughter.

Thus far five of the group have been connected by the state evidence with the melee the night of June 7 when Aderholt led a group of officers on a raid on the union headquarters and was shot and killed. The only two who have not yet been mentioned in the state's testimony are K. Y. Hendryx and Clarence Miller.

ILLNESS FATAL TO H. W. JACKSON

Former Columbiana Resident Dies While On Visit To Quincy, Illinois

Homer W. Jackson, 60, of Dayton, assistant editor of the Reliable Poultry Journal, died Friday morning in Quincy, Ill., where he had gone on a visit, relatives have been advised.

Mr. Jackson, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Jackson, was born in Columbiana.

At one time he was on the agricultural faculty of the Pennsylvania State college. During that time he was also poultry editor of the National Stockman and Farmer.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen Carr Jackson. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis and Albert Carr, Damascus rd.

Funeral service will be held Monday afternoon at Cambridge.

RAID SERIES IN CITY EFFECTIVE, SHERIFF CLAIMS

Dry Raiders Make Trip Here Friday; No Arrests Made

ARREST IS MADE IN WELLSVILLE

Official Believes But Few Places Operating In Salem Now

Illegal liquor traffic in Salem is practically eliminated as a result of the extensive campaign conducted on bootlegging establishments here during the past 10 days.

This was the statement made by Sheriff W. J. Barlow today following the fourth entrance of state and county officials into this city in the war upon bootleggers Friday afternoon.

"Two weeks ago Salem was about the wettest place in Columbiana county," Sheriff Barlow declared this morning, "but both state and county officials are now satisfied that bootlegging activities are practically halted at the present time."

"It is possible," he added, "that there are a few places still operating and we believe there are, but it is certain that only a small amount of liquor is being dispensed now in comparison to the amount sold two weeks ago."

No arrests were made yesterday when the raiders entered the city for the fourth time this week. Visits were made to four places but each was found locked tight and apparently out of business, the sheriff reported. Liquor was found at one place but its owner or operator was not found.

The officers spent about an hour here making rounds of various places where bootlegging activities were once being engaged in but none of the places under suspicion were operating.

The raiders visited Wellsville later in the day arresting Mrs. Charles Prezda there on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquors after a quantity of liquor was confiscated at the place she is alleged to have been operating. A previous charge of selling is also preferred against her.

CLOTHE THEM

When the Salem High school reserves, or second football team, appeared at Reilly field for their game with Akron West reserves last Saturday, they wore uniforms with large patches and holes. They did not play like a bunch of misfits, but they surely looked the part. Their opponents were fitted out in natty uniforms and the contrast was so great that football fans have not ceased their comments—mostly of the critical kind. They want to know why it is necessary to clothe an athletic team representing a modern school in such harem scarem fashion.

It's a fair question. Just why should these boys who played such a good game be handicapped before they set foot on the field? Why aren't they entitled to some respectable-looking uniforms? Give them a "fighting chance." Let them have the self-respect that worn-out uniforms fail to offer.

The fans are with these boys because they showed the right spirit. They did not falter; they played the game. Surely they are now entitled to some recognition. There is money in the high school athletic association's treasury. If it's insufficient, or needed for other purposes, let the fans know about it. We'll wager that some means will be found to build up a uniform fund.

But first let's see why the association can't use part of its money to equip its athletes properly.

THE PRESIDENT'S JUDGMENT

After 20 years of effort, Chairman Stephen G. Porter of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House, believes that the time is ripe to vest power in the president to declare an embargo on arms shipments from the United States to any warring nation in the world. A resolution sponsored by Mr. Porter and with an amendment specifying the types of fighting machinery against which such restrictions shall be exercised was introduced in the house recently. It is in the form of an amendment to a former one passed in 1922 which gave the president the power to prevent the shipment of arms to South and Latin American countries and to China.

There is a two-fold significance to this resolution. First, it is a manifestation of a new spirit as indicated in the Kellogg peace treaty and other international peace movements which have created a strong sentiment. Doubt is arising as to the legitimacy of aiding warfare indiscriminately by arms supplies. There is an increasingly strong conviction that idealism may deserve precedence over business in some cases, even though the pessimist sees in peace movements a desire to increase personal gain.

Second, Mr. Porter's resolution is a tacit admission that any judgment requiring the impartiality that would have to be shown in an arms embargo can only be effective if it is placed on one man's range of duties. The wrangling that would ensue were the matter left open to the pressure of diverse interests through that semi-private servant so much in the public eye of late—the lobbyist—can easily be imagined. The greatest weakness of the democracy are selfishness and private gain and the president is supposed to be immune to these counter influences to his impartial judgment.

A wire from Cambridge, Massachusetts, tells of the arrest of a woman of that place on a charge of concealing mortgaged property, her offense consisting in sitting on a piano on which she had neglected to meet the payments. The dispatch did not disclose her exact dimensions.

Berlin is doing an about-face and attempting to show how people can be made to behave on a minimum number of regulations. The United States may expect an influx of German lawyers most any time now.

What Others Say

A SILLY MOVEMENT

Boston, which never tires of making itself ridiculous, has remained true to its tradition by banning Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude."

Of "Strange Interlude" it is enough to say that most critics regard it as the greatest American play yet written. It won the Pulitzer prize of 1928. It was staged by the New York Theater guild, America's finest producing organization, and represented the guild's foremost critical and financial success. With the authority of the New York Theater guild, Eugene O'Neill, Columbia university, and the entire body of professional literary opinion behind it, one might suppose that the mayor of Boston would have hesitated to place the play in the same category as a vulgar burlesque show.

Here we have another specimen of the idiocy which censorship makes possible. No ignoramus can be so ignorant, it seems, as a censor. He is always willing to lay hands on Shakespeare, or Ibsen, or any other master of a difficult and complex craft, and set the masterpiece "right."

Some people appear to have the bright idea that it would be a good thing to have "Strange Interlude" banned from Minneapolis. Such a banning would be a good thing, certainly, for Minneapolis if Minneapolis is anxious to acquire the reputation of being America's second silliest city. It would be a good thing if Minneapolis wants to write itself down as a city with no understanding of the art of the theater. "Strange Interlude," of course, is no play for children. It is a mature work of tragic art about which opinions may legitimately differ. But the idea of refusing America's greatest play a hearing in Minneapolis is preposterous. The movement to ban "Strange Interlude" from Minneapolis is simply a movement to advertise Minneapolis abroad as a stupid and illiterate city.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The Stars Say —

For Sunday, October 6, Sunday's horoscope holds encouragement for ecclesiastic pursuits and clerics, and, as well, fosters all that pertains to labor, industry and plodding perseverance. Letters, writings and contracts are under fortunate ruling.

Those whose birthday it is are under an encouraging sway for a year of steady progress and eminent return for application and diligence. Writings and contracts should bring profit, and should bring publicity and promotion of every character. A child born on this day may rise to established position by its own enterprise, fine balance and steady application and dependability. It may excel in literary pursuits of a rather serious nature.

What's orthodox, and true believing, against a conscience? A good living.—Tupper.

For Monday, October 7, Monday's astrological configurations promise a day of sudden upheaval and unforeseen activities, which may be of radical influence on the course of events. Abruptly presented openings, with change of employment, new interests and environment are seen, but with these there is a menace of sinister and secret attack. Be more than careful lest this duplicity or fraud undermine the advantages.

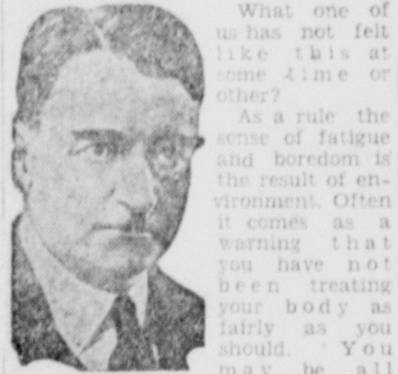

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of very important change, with unusual activity suddenly precipitated. While the prospects are excellent, there is an oncoming of a furtive and sinister undermining of the best promises. There is need of extreme caution against this subtlety and menace. A child born many traits of genius, which may land it in high position.

Race envy withers at another's joy and hates that excellence it cannot reach.—Thomson.

BEING "ON EDGE" IS WARNING OF TROUBLE

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

Eugene Field once wrote the following:
"It seems to me I'd like to go Where bells don't ring, nor whistles blow
Nor clocks don't strike, nor gongs don't sound,
And I'd have stillness all around."

What one of us has not felt like this at some time or other?
As a rule the sense of fatigue and boredom is the result of environment. Often it comes as a warning that you have not been treating your body as fairly as you should. You may be all "nerves and jumpy" and so on edge that neither your friends nor family can stand having you around. When this happens it is time to stop and take an inventory of your health stock.

Many business men appear always to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown. They have endless demands on their time. Whether in the office or at home or abroad, constant demands are made upon them.

The telephone can give warning that something is wrong. When you hate the sound of the telephone bell and can't bear to have one more discussion with a client or customer, it is time to take a rest. Put on your hat and go out for the afternoon. See different faces, do some frivolous thing!

A day, or a week, or a month, or as much time as you can spare, spend in the quiet of the country or in the woods will act as a tonic. The first day or two you may be somewhat bored. The stillness seems oppressive. The tree toads and bullfrogs will sound as annoying as did the telephone, whistles and motor horns of the city. But in a day or two as you begin to relax, these new sounds are all soothing to your overwrought nerves.

Simple food, simply served, is bound to have its appeal. Fresh milk in quantities, new laid eggs and garden fruits and vegetables supply the rest of the cure. You will sleep long, untroubled hours and waken thoroughly refreshed in the morning.

Don't wait until the breakdown comes. Heed the warning of the telephone, the whistle or the gong, and go where "there is stillness all around."

A MAZDA LAMP
for Effortless Vision

After the Incandescent Lamp was first made practical by Thomas Edison in 1879, it required over forty years to produce the mazda bulb shown here. Lighting experts at last are satisfied that it represents all that might be desired in an artificial light. Through its frosted surface comes a soft diffused light so easy on the eyesight that one is scarcely aware of its presence. For reading, a 60-watt bulb is preferable; for other fixtures, the wattage varies with the position and purpose of the bulb.

Stop in at our store when ordering new lamps and we'll advise you on the wattage best adapted to each fixture. This will mean a more economical and effective distribution of light in your home.

A Conundrum

THE two men were the same height, the same age, the same weight. Their educational advantages had been equal, and yet there was a strange difference in their appearance.

One man had a springy step, an enthusiastic manner, a smile of confidence, while the other had an apathetic manner, a look of pessimism and a scowl suggesting unhappiness.

Which was the man with the growing savings account?

Many confident smiles are cultivated at our savings window.

Compare features to learn how much more Oakland gives for its price

Oakland has made it easy for you to compare features. In fact, Oakland has made the comparisons itself, tabulating the results in chart form so that you can see at a glance what you get in the Oakland All-American Six as well as what you get in twenty other cars of medium price.

Before you buy any car within $3000 of Oakland's price, be sure to come in and see the complete results of these comparisons. And when you have seen them, we will clinch the proof of Oakland superiority with a demonstration—convincing you beyond any question that this is America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Prices, $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Lawley Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motor Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Proof that Oakland is America's finest medium-priced automobile

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 878 individual comparisons were made. Of these Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 451 or 51.37 per cent. The 20 cars combined were at best equal to Oakland on 382 or 43.50 per cent. And 13 of the 20 were higher-priced than Oakland!

WHEELBASE

Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

BRAKES

Only Oakland and one other car in its field use the fine type of brakes which Oakland employs. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.

In the Churches

Church of Our Saviour, 227 McKinley ave., Rev. Christian A. Tabor, pastor.
Services Sunday, Oct. 6, the 19th Sunday after Trinity.

Celebration of the Holy Communion, 7:30.

Church school, 9:30.

Second celebration and sermon 11.

The third great truth, which lifts loads of difficulty from our minds in reading the Bible, is that the Old Testament is an unfinished story, which is only fulfilled by the New.

We are under the New Covenant, not under the Old. We are drinking the new wine, not the old. We are Christians, not Jews. It is quite impossible to separate the New Testament from the Old, for our Lord built everything upon the foundation of the faith in God-purified, deepened, expanded—which was written on the heart of the Jew. Yet what He built on was incomplete and preparatory and in need of correction. We can see the truth of that in regard to His controversy with the Jews about the Sabbath.

They had let the idea that God was resting from His creative work hide from them the deeper and complementary truth—ever championed by the prophets—that He is the living and creative God, still at work, as the future would show. Jewish Sab-batarianism was based on the idea that on one day in the week man should do nothing, like God. "No," said Jesus, "you are wrong. God is ever at work, and is at work now;

therefore I do a good work on the Sabbath day." So again, when His disciples asked Him whether they should bid fire to come down from heaven and consume the Samaritans, who would not receive Him, He turned and rebuked them. Their appeal was to Elijah, to the Old Testament, to an exterminating deity. But Jesus "turned and rebuked them."

Hence the supreme importance of reading the Old Testament in the light of that which it does not contain—in the light of the New. How disastrously has this been forgotten!

In what dark dungeons of merely

Old Testament ideas of God have innumerable souls been fast bound!

No wonder that St. Paul prayed for his converts that they might have discernment as regards things that differ. We have to be jealous that nothing shall dim the glorious and blazing light of the good news of the love of God in Christ. We may easily put it into a lantern, filled with darkly smeared glass. We may easily hide the "foundation once laid, even Jesus Christ," by piling inferior material on to the top of it. But we need not do so. For God in His merciful and persistent working, has made possible a discriminating understanding of the Bible.

The criticism of the Bible is often attacked as diabolic. But it is, despite of its human frailties, of God.

It has washed those smears from the glass. It has laid bare the chosen, the precious corner stone.

As has re-discovered and released the good news.

Althouse Studebakers Open Season Against Alliance Bulls

Salem Semi-Pro Team Plays First Game Of Year Away From Home

The Althouse Studebakers, after three weeks of hard practice at the Memorial building, open their 1929 semi-pro football season meeting the strong Alliance Fairmount Bulls at Goat Hill field, Alliance Sunday afternoon.

The real strength of the Salem aggregation is to be tested yet, but everything now points to the fact that the city will be represented by a light, but strong outfit, one which will surpass last year's team in many essentials.

Eighteen players have been reporting for practice sessions since the first organization meeting was held.

Bob Wilson, former Salem High and Rollins, (Pa.) college grid star, is coaching the Quaker City crew, and will play either an end or half-back.

Seeds, a member of last year's Studebakers and also a former Red and Black star athlete will also play a half, with Chris Roessler and John Sarrick, fullbacks.

Nine Ex-High Players

Nine of the 18 players on the squad are former varsity players with Salem High, while only three from the entire group will be from out of town. The former Salem High stars are: Wilcox, Seeds, Harsh, Konert, Roessler, Ray Judge, Mart Debnar, Gus Jacobson and Butch Volmer. Max Harrington, Whilly Duncan, Dutch Roelen, Andy Flip, Mike Sarrick and Johnny Sarrick are the others comprising the local talent.

Dale Rafferty, Dutch Halen and Red Nigel are the only players from out of the city on the team. They are from Sebring. Rafferty and Nigel are tackles while Halen plays end.

The Fairmount Bulls have a strong team and last Sunday held the Massillon Moose combine to a scoreless tie. Frank Hogue, one of the district's outstanding grid performers plays fullback, while Pauley, Kennedy and Schuster all of whom played with last year's Althouse team form the rest of the backfield. Schaefer, elongated former Alliance High star end; Debee, guard and Shively, a tackle are also on the team.

A large delegation of Salem fans is expected to make the trip to the game. The Salem team is backed by the Althouse-Brown Studebaker company.

SALEM FANS SEE NIGHT FOOTBALL AT NEW CASTLE

New Castle, Pa., Oct. 5.—Approximately 18,000 fans, among them about 50 persons from Salem packed Ben Franklin stadium here last night, as New Castle High romped to a 13-6 victory over Harding High of Aliquippa in New Castle's second after-dark game of the season.

They came from all over to watch the game. Night football brings to New Castle its greatest crowds in history and has increased the school's athletic association fund to an enormous amount.

Fans from Salem who viewed the game were astounded with the clearness of view of every play in the contest. The ball, painted white is more discernible than in daylight games and the large floodlights from each side of the field make every play easy to see.

The total cost of erecting lights for night games is estimated by New Castle school officials at between $3,000 and $3,500. Two high powered lights are placed on poles 65-ft. high. Six poles are on each side of the field.

The construction of the lights at Reilly stadium is now under consideration.

Feature Fight Show Billed At Canton Oct. 7

Plattenberg Opens Fight Season With Five Bouts On Card

Canton, Oct. 5.—The first step in the process of bringing boxing back to popularity in Canton will be taken here Monday night when the All-Star Athletic club with Harry C. Plattenberg as matchmaker presents a 36-round fight show at the city auditorium with Tommy Freeman, Cleveland flash and Young Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh as headliners.

Freeman opposes Keystone State in the ten-round final of the program. It will be Greb's first appearance in Stark county. He holds an enviable record in his home city and the entire western Pennsylvania. Jack Townsend, New York city heavyweight clashes with Tom Williams of Chicago in a special bout of eight rounds. The winner of this fiasco will meet George Godfrey, Leipsville (Pa.) slugger, said by many to be the leading contender for the title abdicated by Gene Tunney. The Godfrey bout will be held in Canton shortly following Monday's scraps.

Three Preliminary

George Ingram of Columbus, who has been quite a sensation in his home town will meet Joe Simon, Cleveland, in the six-round semi-final at 145 pounds, while Tony Canzoni, Cleveland swats leather with Joe Botta, also of Cleveland in the main prelim at 118 pounds. Two Canton corners, Young Early and Joe Gennett battle in the 135-pound curtain raiser.

Plattenberg plans to hold fights all through the winter season and enthusiastic over the opening card expressing certainty that it will leave fans well pleased and start the comeback of the game in fine manner.

Yankees Were Deep In Series Just Year Ago Today

BY HENRY McEMORE
New York, Oct. 5.—Have you had your irony today?
If not, hasten to turn back the hands of time and while hastening and turning consider the New York Yankees.

One year ago today the Yankees defeated St. Louis in the second game of the world series, making it two in a row. Their entry into the series was over a path strewn with the bodies of adversaries they had clubbed down without mercy. Most prominent among the mangled victims were the Philadelphia Athletics who had their challenge for the pennant answered by shameful defeat.

Today these same Yankees and these same Athletics are playing. And the Athletics, winners of the pennant and just on the eve of a world series are hoping that rain will not cancel their games with the Yanks. For they want to use the once-mighty champions as warm-ups for their battles with the Cubs—use the bone-crushing team of 1928 as an exerciser.

The A's have been idle since last Sunday. Mack is planning to give all his pitchers a fling at the Yanks to put them in just the right shape for the first game of the series on Tuesday.

The Cubs have been playing along all week. Yesterday they took another one from the Reds, this time by 6 to 3 after 10 innings. It was Charley Root's 18th victory of the season. The Cubs got 13 hits and indicated by their play that Tuesday will find them in keen shape.

In the only other major league game Chicago turned back Detroit, 14 to 6. Dutch Henry, released by the Giants by the waiver route, twirled for the Sox and did a neat job.

STARS IN STATE FEATURE

Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Mary Brian in the Paramount Picture "River of Romance" with Wallace Beery, June Collyer

"River Of Romance" Features Screen Programs Next Week

Colorful tales of plantation days on the old Mississippi during the picturesque period previous to the Civil War form the background for the feature of next week's theater program. The screen version of those famous days will be narrated in "River of Romance", an adventure romance-drama, at the State three days next week.

The Royal brings three stellar feature to the city, for the week's entertainment, one all-talking drama, another with synchronized sound effects and talking, and a third picture which will probably be all silent, if Manager Scheffeld follows his custom of past weeks. "The Man and the Moment" is also scheduled to play at the State next week, being taken from Elinor Glyn's novel of the same name. Billie Dove is the leading player being cast opposite Rod La Rocque. It plays here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

MARY BRIAN FEATURED
"River of Romance" stars Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Mary Brian, who are probably the most popular screen players of the younger set today. It opens a three-day stay at the State Monday.

Rogers is cast as a young eastern-educated son of a southern family who returns to the paternal plantation with new ideas only to be confronted with customs and codes of honor which he does not understand. Because he refuses to fight a duel with a villainous character he is ordered from his home, branded as a coward. He goes to Natchez and there runs into Frank Kohler, the most feared man in the south. Kohler insults the youngster and after the ensuing fight, Rogers becomes known as the "notorious Colonel Blake". Wallace Beery is his best friend and "publicity man" in his adventures in Natchez.

Beery Furnishes Comedy
Rogers and Beery visit the former's old home and there, while disguised, the youth becomes involved in another fracas with the man who once was the cause of his leaving home. He wins his argument and after a dramatic showing before his parents returns home and is reunited with Mary Brian, his sweetheart, Wallace Beery is the picture's comedian.

Miss Dove, who has often been termed America's most beautiful actress, but who was an extra for years because she lacked personality is played in a strange role in "Man and the Moment." She appears in the story as a typical American girl in a typical American world and gangland is said to have brought the story of criminal life right up to the modern times. Thrills abound and the tensest moments are brightened with genuine comedy situations.

"The Body Punch" Universal's comedy romance featuring a contest between a boxer and a wrestler, will be shown at the Royal Saturday. Jack Daugherty and Virginia Brown Faire appear in the starring roles. George Kotsarow, well known professional wrestler, plays a prominent role, and Wilbur Mack and Monte Montague complete the cast. The story is unusual and exciting.

Mrs. Gene Tunney Is Operated Upon

Berlin, Oct. 5.—Mrs. James J. (Gene) Tunney, wife of the former heavyweight champion of the world, underwent an operation for appendicitis here today. The operation was entirely successful.

The operation was performed at the clinic of Professor A. W. Meyer, the famous German surgeon who saved Mrs. Tunney's life when she was close to death from an abdominal abscess on Brioni Island in the Adriatic this spring.

Leonard Speaks of One Room Schools

At a meeting of the St. Clair Township Farm Bureau held at Calcutta, Friday evening, County Supt. of Schools H. C. Leonard was the guest speaker. Leonard who has been active in the work of obtaining higher education for rural school children referred to the advancement that had been made in other parts of the county, and declared that it was his opinion that the same advantages could be obtained in St. Clair township.
